

Doodlebug Times 2001

2001 Team Jerseys

Those who attended the 2001 Doodlebug will remember how visible the committee members were, with their bright red Team Canada hockey jerseys and berets. The committee initially couldn't decide what the official committee apparel should be. Then Daryl Robbins made the brilliant suggestion of the jerseys, which had just been unveiled by the Olympic hockey team. Canada went on to win gold in both men's and women's hockey, and the jerseys were immortalized.

Sponsorship over the years

No sponsors, no Doodlebug, simple as that. Over the years, many companies have contributed their hard-earned money to help make the tournament a success. Western Geophysical is mentioned as a sponsor in 1954, and is still with us as WesternGeco. West Canadian Graphics (formerly West Canadian Microfilm) have been doing the Roster Books ever since the first one in 1962, plus other valuable printing services – incredible!

Pods and Sods - Jasper a big hit... again

Compliments WEST CANADIAN GRAPHICS

The Doodlebug Golf Tournament came back to Jasper for the second time, after a one year return to Banff. Once again, Jasper did not disappoint – the weather was spectacular, with shorts and short sleeves under cloudless blue skies all three days.

The various golf and social events, under the exuberant guidance of Chairman Tom Podivinsky, were also outstanding. Many comments were heard that this was the best Doodlebug yet.

Highlights were the extremely well received post-Mixed round lunch (made possible by running a shotgun start), with humorous awards, and the high energy 70's theme party Saturday night featuring the incredible retro-band, the Travoltas.

Red carded?

Not since 1968 when Chairman Don Telfer won the Hole-in-one prize have we seen such a major indiscretion by a member of the Doodlebug Golf Committee. Sandy Jenkins, pictured in mug shot at right (notice beady, 2001 will be remembered as the year of the WTC attack.

Goings on at the Gardener's

The personality of any particular year's Doodlebug Chairman tends to be imprinted on the event, and this year was no different. Tom Podivinsky (aka The Moravian Milquetoast) is well known for his shy, introspective manner. The 2001 Doodlebug will be remembered for its civility and restraint.

It makes it all the more shame that a tranquil weekend of golf could be ruined by the juvenile antics of just a few hooligans. However, the stoicism and patience of the gentlemanly Chairman in the face of some, let's face it, silly behaviour by a couple of "good time Charlies" is commendable.

Instead of his regular herbal tea and bed by 10, Podivinsky was forced to stay up to the wee hours in the Chairman's cabin, imbibing god-knows-what awful alcoholic concoctions. Only the brave actions of his good wife allowed Tom to get any sleep at all.

His fragile constitution weakened by alcohol and a lack of sleep, Podivinsky still managed to carry out his duties with grace and aplomb, including his "Bet the Pod" charity fund raising efforts on Sunday. Kudos to a real Gentleman!
